Short Description

Atomex 20 Litre Paint Strainer Bags are designed to filter rubbish and debris from paint before spraying. Reduces tip blockages in your airless spraying system.

Description

Atomex Paint strainer bags are fantastic for straining paint before you spray. The specially woven nylon strainer will fit into a 20 litre drum (will also work with smaller drums or buckets) and will remove small particles and debris from paint.

Removing rubbish and debris from paint will reduce tips blockages, wear on the airless pump and make your filters in the airless last longer.

The nylon woven filter bag can be washed and re-used many times and they are solvent resistant. 12 Paint Strainer Bags come in each pack and will last you for a long time.

Straining your paint before spraying will take a few minutes but it can be the difference between having a great spraying or a day with endless tip blockages or pump blockages.
